

The Master Machiavellian

ISSUE #17

Brentwood, California

3 February 1976

Dispatchio di Machiavelli

Welcome again to this publication, the most dedicated to the wile and intrigue of interpersonal relationships. By ardently perusing the devious dealings inside you will gain in your understanding not only of the contest of Diplomacy, but of all dealings where one needs to know when to keep faith and when to break faith.

The fourth game of regular Diplomacy in this periodical, the sixth to be opened in The Master Machiavellian, has now been filled. Those princes who are to contest this conflict are requested to employ their attention to the final page, and therein discover the player casting and other particulars for this engagement. This is the final contest to be commenced within these pages for a period of time pursuant upon the resolution of one of our other engagements.

When in the preceding installment of The Master Machiavellian it was announced that it would no doubt soon prove necessary for the Staff to restrict the amount of press princes submitted, due to the large number of contests under way, this was meant to mean only that a prince should be prepared to see some of his releases edited somewhat, not that the Staff had decided to remove all press entirely. Rather, it is my sincere desire that all princes in this publication continue to submit press releases, and I make it my pledge to see that as much of this press that can be printed is printed.

You princes must know that there are two methods of fighting, the one by law; the other by force: the first method is that of man, the second of beasts; but as the first method is often insufficient, one must have recourse to the second. It is necessary therefore for a prince to know well how to use both the beast and the man. A prince being thus obliged to know well how to act as a beast must imitate the fox and the lion, for the lion cannot protect himself from traps, and the fox cannot protect himself from wolves. One must therefore be a fox to recognise traps and a lion to frighten wolves. Those that wish to be only lions do not understand this. Therefore, a prudent ruler ought not to keep faith when by so doing it would be against his interest. Nor have legitimate grounds ever failed a prince who wished to show colourable excuse for the non-fulfillment of his promise. It is necessary to disguise the character of the fox well, and to be a great feigner and dissembler; and men are so simple and so ready to obey present necessities, that one who deceives will always find those who allow themselves to be deceived. Consider this well in your diplomatic sojourns. Farewell

GAMES SECTION

Before getting into the games, I (Mike Homel-er) would like to say a thing or two about the NHR article TMM printed last issue. It seems that not only did the vast majority of players concur with our decision to drop players who consistently NHR, but most felt the staff was being too lenient by allowing four NHRs per game prior to expulsion. Well, what with the Postal Service as incompetent as it is, the possibility exists, or rather the probability exists, that most players will experience some difficulty getting their orders in on time and avoiding a NHR adjudication no matter how hard they attempt to avoid it if they do not submit preliminary orders ASAP. Many of TMM's players have NHRed accidentally, and sincerely wish to continue to participate in the game, and thus we are going to continue to allow the four NHR rule to remain in effect. Also, we are going to publish, with each game, a running account of who has NHRed and how many times (if any) so that everyone knows where they and their friends and acquaintances stand. All in all, however, the staff would like to thank those players who are careful not to NHR, and to assure those players who may NHR totally by accident that we can sympathize. ((At least, for four NHRs worth!)) And now to the games!

 RUSSIA(Lwabeck): No change possible.

ENGLAND(Zimmermann): Builds A Ldi, A Lon.
 ITALY(Ferguson*): NHR. GA R F Ion, F Lyo.
 TURKEY(Lucero): Builds F Smy.

At the last minute Lwabeck apparently decided to remain in '74HO; thanks to Don Parker for submitting standby moves for that country - Don, you can do it again if you'd like, because if Lwabeck doesn't submit more legible orders next time, he's out! By the way, FRANCE in CG maintains A Por unchanged. As for Italy (*), if Gus misses another, that's it -- I'll talk to him in school and see if he can stay in. Spring 1906 orders due 3.00pm 26 February 1976 at 1443

1974HO News:

Baghdad, Bagdad. 19 Jan. 1905: "Baghdad increased border tension between our country and Persia, as we requested the British to place the army units (7th, 8th, and 10th) stationed in Persia are to be placed on standby. The British government has refused to place his Imperial Majesty and the Shah of Persia in a position of danger. They can be controlled without internal conflict."

Ankara Times, 7 March 1906: "It was announced today that a treaty has been signed between H.I.M. the Sultan and the Shah of Persia over the recent border clashes. It calls for joint efforts to arrest Kurdish rebels, so that the area the Kurds occupy will be restored to order in time for next November's National Assembly elections. Pending ratification by the Assembly, His Imperial Majesty placed the 7th and 8th army divisions back on reserve, and ordered the 10th to cease operations temporarily."

RUSSIA(Fox): No change possible.

*Not to mention Paris and Ankara! " denotes last issue's error, which was that Russia did ~~not~~ take Nwy from England and did ~~not~~ lose Swo to Germany, while England loses one unit due to Nwy's loss. I refer specifically to issue #16, when it was erroneously printed, "RU: F Nwy /r/ to NWY!" rather than F Swo /r/. Thus, the RU move F Nwy to Swo failed because of "GE: A Swo H; F Bal & A Swo". So, Germany gains one, Russia has no change, and England loses one. Yecch! What a mess! Spring 1904 orders due 3.00pm 26 February 1976 at Jon Reich's house, 1443 Jonesboro Drive, Los Angeles CA 90049. Also, there has been proposed a FR-AU-IT draw; votes due with next orders.

 1975AV's request I just discovered while typing up the dittoes:

1975AV's request:

Emperor Franz, 17 Feb. 1908. In order to clear up any confusion over his title, the Emperor-King-King today held a press conference. His Highness explained that, since Austria-Hungary-South Slavia is a triple monarchy, and he is a triple monarch, that it was just courtesy to attach the second King to his title. He stated also that he would not tolerate excessive abuse of the title, as he is simply giving the Slavs the recognition they de-
